The Mother Nature's Bounty issue includes an investigative article by student Saba Koslov on the importance of healthy soil featuring an interview with New York City District 73 Assembly Member Alex Bores, an exclusive Q&A with New York Times-bestselling author Bill McKibben, an interview with CEO of Clean Air Zone Serge Hoyda, and a profile article on 12-year-old activist and CEO of the CHIL&D nonprofit Faatiha Aayat.

Now, with Volume 3 on the horizon, students have started a partnership with award-winning international nonprofit publisher Archipelago Books. Publisher Jill Schoolman and her staff will be working with the students to provide feedback on each issue and answer questions on numerous topics from poetry font size to the publishing industry.

Zane Mills VanWicklen, Founder of AND Literary, says, "This partnership means the world to our students, as it is a door opening into the publishing world. Now, they will have access to experts in the field and a huge accolade on their résumés which will propel them into future internships and jobs."
